Area of Coverage

Senarai welcomes high-quality scholarly works that engage a broad and interdisciplinary range of topics. The journal invites studies that explore the philosophical foundations of historical narratives in Islamic contexts, showing how philosophical ideas shape the interpretation of historical events. It also encourages comparative research that positions Islamic philosophies within other cultural and historical traditions, identifying both similarities and differences. In addition, Senarai values works that highlight the major contributions of Islamic scholars to the global intellectual heritage and their influence across various fields of knowledge. The journal further welcomes studies examining the impact of Islamic thought on science, philosophy, art, architecture, and literature throughout history. Finally, Senarai supports rigorous methodological and theoretical approaches that promote innovative research in Islamic history and civilization.

Peer Review Process: All submissions will be subjected to a double-blinded peer-review process (neither authors nor reviewers know each other's names or affiliations), except for those under the category of 'Letter to Editor'. The Editorial team will review the latter.
